Zukunft.DEFENCE – New business models for Civilian Industry

Be visible now, when new business areas are emerging, industry partners are being sought and supply chains are being established.

Against the backdrop of a changing security policy environment, the question of how civilian value creation, technological expertise, and industrial capacities will be integrated into the realm of comprehensive national security in the future is becoming a key issue for the years ahead.

With a series of events and two griephan editions (February and October 2027), Zukunft.DEFENCE establishes a media platform to foster dialogue and cooperation between civilian industry, the Bundeswehr, political decision-makers, and the defence industry.
